LB Shopping Survey To Start Here Today

Today your Lower Bucks County Community Survey starts in the Levittown Times and Bristol Courier . . . to give you the opportunity to express your feelings about shopping conditions in the Lower Bucks County area.

The owners and managers of the stores cannot possibly know exactly what goes on, at all times, in their places of business. The only way they can know what you like and what you do not like is for you to tell them. Then they can do something about it.

Possibly certain things that have happened when shopping in various stories have particularly pleased or displeased you. The Good Will Community Survey which begins today gives every reader a chance to say what he or she likes or does not like about shopping conditions (See details on Pages 8 and 9).

Very few people have ever been asked to express an opinion in a survey. You hear of various surveys, but no one has ever seemed to ask YOU.

In most surveys an interviewer comes to the door or telephones and asks why you prefer certain soaps — TV programs — appliances — or politicians.

In most surveys there is no reason for the busy housewife to take the time to give thoughtful answers. Generally you are not too much concerned about the questions asked.

This Is Different

This Survey is different. The information in this Survey is for the purpose of improving shopping conditions, and the merchants can only know how to do things the way you want them if you tell them. You provide your answers at your convenience.

Every merchant has two constant problems. He must invite you to his store. He must please you when you come in.

Each week there will be a new and completely separate Survey with a different question about "shopping conditions" asked each week.

The owners and managers of the stores really want to know about anything that has happened in their stores which either pleased or displeased you.

If something has displeased you they want to know so that they can correct that situation. They are also particularly interested to know about any happenings that have particularly pleased you because then those concerned can be commended.

Your helpfulness in this Survey can be very important to you and to every other shopper. You are not supposed to be an expert. You are only being asked to express your opinion as a reader.

No Perfect Rules

When it comes to inviting you to his store that means writing an ad that will bring you in. Possibly you think that is easy for an "expert." Actually the experts puzzle and worry about ads all the time because there is no perfect set of rules nor any perfect yardstick.

Every ad is written for you readers. It is an invitation to you. You know whether that invitation is a good one. Your opinions can be most helpful. Merchants and ad experts are sometimes inclined to get too close to their own jobs. They lose that "human touch" and fail to appreciate the readers' viewpoint.

Naturally, the merchants want to have their ads the way you want them because then their ads will do them more good. Automatically, every reader will be

Community Survey

The Boss Wants To Know

The Lower Bucks Community Survey which starts today (see complete details on Pages 8 and 9) is for the direct benefit of every one of you readers.

The purpose of this voluntary Survey is to give you readers an opportunity to tell the owners and managers of the stores what you like and what you do not like about local shopping conditions — so that they can do things the way you want them done.

To succeed every merchant must invite you to his store and then please you when you come in.

The invitation is his ad. From the list below write down on the ballot from today's two-page announcement, the ad in each group which you think "will do the advertiser the most good."

Then it will be most helpful if you will write a letter about what you like and don't like about shopping conditions.

You will be the one who will benefit. Do your share! Start today!

Each week is a completely separate Survey with a different question about shopping each week.

Good Evening!

The man's been saying rain.

This afternoon, tonight and tomorrow morning, even. Maybe just once he can be right?

Even the weeds are getting disgusted. All but that lovely garden of ragweed just outside our office window, six feet tall, in full bloom, and the prettiest hayfever irritant you ever saw.

Trouble is, we don't get hay fever.

One of the more distinguished magazine articles of the year, incidentally, is Bernard Baruch's own story, starting in last week's Satevepost.

Read it. It's a refreshing escape from the mediocrity you've had to tolerate most of the summer.

And responsible union and management people had better get their heads together on that James Buchanan school situation and see that this newest Bristol township institution is ready by the time the bells ring.

Too bad if we have to go back to double school sessions for the little shavers. They deserve better treatment than that.

Giants take two more from the Phils and it appears the collapse is complete.

Well sir, like they say, hope springs eternal, etc., etc. Maybe next year. . .

Hitchhiker robbed by a motorist near Norristown. That's a strange switch.

By the time a man is fixed for life he has worried himself to death.

Watch your driving.

Field Day Draws 6000

The Fairless Hills Field Day held on Saturday was attended by 6,000 residents and termed a "huge success" today by Edward Howley, general chairman.

"This was the best annual Field Day we've had, and since each one has been better than the last, we really expect a tremendous thing next year," he said.

Youngsters from five to 16 years of age competed in the various races and events and no less than 126 trophies were awarded for three prizes in each event to the winners among the 4,000 children who took part.

Six different types of food and drinks were distributed free among the children who were ready to cash in the 3,800 refreshment tickets that were distributed among the children.

After the field day races had been completed the residents en-

Five-Year-Old Drowns In Farm Milk House

ANGELS, Pa. (UP)- Five-year-old Glen W. Gilby was drowned Sunday in a cooling trough of the milk house on his father's farm.

Police said Raymond Gilby and his son went to the milk house to remove cans of milk for shipment to the creamery. The father emptied the cooler and began to refill it with cold spring water while he took the milk to the shipping point.

Glen's body was found in 15 inches of water about 20 minutes later by his mother. The Green-Dreher Fire Co. resuscitator squad worked on the boy for two hours before he was pronounced dead.

ISRAEL SEES WAR FROM SYRIA COUP

Probers Dig On Entry Of Union Thugs

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee summoned teamster boss Dave Beck's number one assistant to the witness stand today to explain how thugs and hoodlums were imported into Teamster unions. They also scheduled a mystery witness.

Committee Counsel John F. Kennedy scheduled the Beck aide, Teamster Vice President Einar Mohn, as a witness when the committee resumed its hearings.

Kennedy said at least one other witness — "an important one"— would testify today. He refused to name him.

Today's hearings were designed to set the stage for the real showdown of the current hearings—the appearance Tuesday of James R. (Jimmy) Hoffa, another Teamster vice president considered heir apparent to Beck's job as president of the nation's biggst union. Beck has announced he will not seek re-election.

Hoffa has said he will answer all the committee's questions. He may be summoned back for another session next month before his union's presidential election in late Septembr.

Sn. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.), committee vice chairman, said Sunday night the labor racket situation in New York—target of the current hearings—is "the most serious in the nation."

He said Hoffa's plan to set up a nationwide transportation union would "completely paralyze the country" in case of a strike and Hoffa and his associates "have demonstrated that they are too irresponsible to be heading any such organization."

Ives, in an interview with Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) over New York state TV stations, said he wondered "if we aren't going to have some kind of legislation to put labor organizations under the anti-trust laws."

Any such legislation, he said, should be of a "fair nature where labor is concerned."

More Meetings Planned On L'town Issue

The Levittown Betterment Committee, formed in protest over the first Negroes coming into the community, announced it would meet this week in defiance of the county sheriff, State and local police.

The decision came at a meeting of the committee in a private home last night after police broke up a mass meeting in Dogwood Hollow, Saturday night.

The sheriff reported that the mass meeting was unlawful since it was called to plan discrimination which is unlawful.

James Newell, Jr., of 94 Daffodil Lane, Dogwood Hollow, chairman of the committee, announced in a prepared statement that the group would hold a public meeting this week.

In the meantime, Mrs. William Myers, wife and mother of the Negro family moved more furniture into their new home at 43 Deepgreen Lane, Dogwood Hollow, today.

Newell this morning said the group is trying to find a hall or auditorium large enough to hold a mass meeting in an effort to raise money.

Newell said the committee wanted to raise the money and offer it to Myers, in the hopes that he would be able to move to another neighborhood where he would be wanted. Newell said the committee had a community like Concord Park in mind. Concord Park is a mixed community of single homes in Bensalem.

The date and place of the meeting will be announced later, he said.

Statement Reads

Newell statement reads:

"The Levittown Betterment Committee has not disbanded. In fact, over the weekend the organization has gained strength and intends to carry on this work and also intends to stand upon its constitutional right and the

Maureen Denies Necking In Movie

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The defense in the Confidential libel trial indicated it may call to the stand today a man the magazine involved in a story with actress Maureen O'Hara.

Testimony in the trial which opened two weeks ago resumes today following a week end recess during which Miss O'Hara emphatically denied testimony putting her in Grauman's Chinese Theater at the time the magazine article claimed she was there with a "Latin."

She said she has a stamped passport and 10 witnesses to prove she was in Spain making a movie in the fall of 1953 when the alleged incident took place. She backed up her denial by increasing the ante in her libel suit against the magazine from one million to five million dollars.

Defense Attorney Arthur J. Crowley maintained he could prove Miss O'Hara was in the Soviet Control Spurs Urgent Talks In West

By United Press

A Communist - backed coup that placed Syria under iron control of a pro - Soviet military clique touched off urgent Anglo-American consulations today in London and roused fears in neighboring Israel of a Soviet-backed invasion.

United Press Diplomatic Correspondent K. C. Thaler reported in London that diplomats considered that the Red move in Syria had given Russia a firm toe hold on the Mediterranean in the severest challenge yet to the Eisenhower Doctrine.

The West regarded the Syrian development as the worst setback for Western Mideast policy since Egypt seized the Suez Canal a year ago. There were indications other NATO powers might be called in to confer on the threat to allied strategy involving NATO partner Turkey and the members of the Baghdad Pact.

Eliav Simon, United Press correspondent in Israel, said in a Jerusalem dispatch there were fears a new Middle East explosion was in the making, backed by Soviet money, tanks, guns, planes and ships.

Syria Against Israel

The Jerusalem dispatch said Syria always has been strongly anti - Israel and that the new military rulers can be relied upon to seize the earliest opportunity to try and revenge their defeat in the Palestine war.

It was noted that Gen. Alif Bizri, the new pro-Communist Syrian leader, was one of the Syrian heroes of that war Now he would be assured of Soviet support in event of hostilities — although the Eisenhower Doctrine provides U. S. support against Communist aggression.

Israel political circles said they were uncertain Russia would risk a world war by pushing Syria into attacking Israel with the possibility of American intervention. But they said Syria may take the risk and use its vast arms supply for an attack alone.

London dispatches said two long-term courses appeared open to the West — to strengthen the Eisenhower Doctrine and to reinforce the anti - Communist Baghdad

Rain Is On Way, Weatherman Says

The weatherman is a little cautious about saying so for sure, but real old-fashioned rain may drop on Lower Bucks tonight.

"All the patterns point to a good rainstorm tonight," the weathernian said. "However, if it doesn't come tonight, it is almost certain in the next couple of days."

Temperatures continued in the 70's today and will fall to the low 60's overnight.

Tomorrow will be windy and a little warmer with a chance of showers.

Yesterday's high was 80 at 1 p.m. and this morning's low was a 6 a.m. reading of 63.

Two Die In Bucks Mishaps

A Sayre, Pa., sailor was killed instantly this morning when he was struck by an automobile as he crossed the Pennsylvania Turnpike, near Southampton, to aid the victims of another accident.

Dead was Harry Leroy Morse, 27, who was stationed at the Lakehurst Naval Air Station.

It was the second fatal accident of the weekend for Bucks county and the 27th of the year.

Upper Bucks Fatality

Mrs. Anna Tarantino, 67, 620 Park Ave., Quakertown, was killed almost instantly when a car she was riding in was involved in a two-car collision in front of her home.

According to Quakertown police, Mrs. Tarantino's husband, Frank, was just about to turn into the drive at their home when the accident occured.

The victim's neck was broken and she died almost instantly. Tarantino was admitted to the Quakertown Hospital with a possible brain concussion, fractured cheek bone, ruptured kidney and internal injuries.

Entertainer Involved

Police said Charles Newman, 17, Pennsburg R.D. 1, a member of the Sleepy Hollow Ranch entertainment group, drove the other car.

Leader Visiting Drought Area Here

Gov. George M. Leader will inspect drought damage in Bucks County this afternoon.

The governor will make a personal inspection tour of farms in the Upper and Central Bucks area, but will travel no further south than Buckingham and Furlong.

Gov. Leader started his inspection tour this morning after receiving reports that drought conditions "are getting steadily worse."

State Agriculture Secretary William L. Henning will accompany Leader on the survey "to find out what the farmers themselves are thinking."

Bucks Delegation

William F. Greenawalt, Bucks County Agriculture Agent, and the Bucks County Drought Emergency Committee will meet Gov. Leader in Lansdale at 3:30 p.m. today.

They will take Gov. Leader on the tour of Bucks County farms, suffering from the worst drought in the history of Southeastern Pennsylvania.

Fowler Wins Two Soap Box Derby Heats For 'Best Show'

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

AKRON, OHIO — Lower Bucks County can well be proud of its standard bearer in the 20th anniversary All-American Soap Box Derby.

Eleven-year-old Jerry Fowler of Lower Makefield, representing the Courier-Times in yesterday's race here, thrilled a record-breaking crowd of 75,000 with two heat victories before bowing out. He lost — by a narrow margin of five feet — to Carl Taraschi of neighboring Trenton in an All-Delaware Valley race.

Best Showing

Participating in America's greatest amateur racing event for the first time, Lower Bucks today can boast of putting on the best showing of the 33 newcomers in yesterday's record field of 159 cities from throughout the United States, Canada, Germany, Alaska and the Philippines. Twenty-seven of the new entries in the All-American Soap Box Derby failed to win a heat. Five others won their first heat before being eliminated, including the Filipino entry which was beaten by young Fowler. Lower Bucks was the only new competitor to win two heats yesterday. Terry Townsend, 15 - year - old, ninth grader from Anderson, Ind., survived the gruelling, record field to win the 20th Annual All-American yesterday. He edged David Hakman of Los Angeles, who placed second and Andy Vasko of St. Catharines, Ontario, in the final heat to win a $5,000 college scholarship and a two-week trip to Europe.

The Anderson lad's victory was scored before a record sellout crowd of 75,000 fans, who packed every inch of Derby Downs, the especially constructed derby track on the outskirts of this hospitable Ohio community. His final time of 27.18 seconds for the 975.4-foot course was within one-hundredth of a second of the best time of the day.

Ike Tries Saving Foreign Aid Cuts

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower counter attacked today in an 11th hour effort to save the foreign aid program from what he considers crippling budget cuts.

He held an unnanounced breakfast conference with the speaker—and Democratic leader—of the House, Sam Rayburn, and appealed for his help in restoring the 30 per cent economy cut made by the House last week.

At the same time he sent a task force of four top administration officials to Capitol Hill to plead with the Senate Appropriations Commitee to put back the 809 million dollars cut by the House.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles led the delegation of witnesses. They warned that U.S. prestige and security are threatened by a budget slash so large that it would change the basic nature of the foreign aid program.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, retired chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, delivered the bluntest warning.

Cites Dire Alternative

The alternative to the size military aid program asked by the administration is for the United States to increase its own defense strength and draft more men so that "nearly every able-bodied young man of military age would Pact. In the meantime Britain was reported urging the United States not to break off diplomatic relations with Syria despite Syrian charges the U.S. plotted to overthrow the government.

Reports filtering through heavy Syrian censorship said a major purge was being carried out of neutral or pro-Western military officers and that the military clique would soon launch a drive against its political opponents, the weakened Populist Party.

There also were reports that Kurdish tribesmen loyal to the ousted regime were preparing a revolt against the leftist leaders who are backed by Soviet guns, planes and tanks. One report reached Amman, Jordan, that Damascus was ringed with tanks and troop carriers and that military camps had been set up near the border of pro-Western Lebanan.

There were reports of arrests, "retirements" and dismissals of leading Syrian army officers. Reliable sources said the police were in the firm grip of the army and that police would move soon against the Populist Party.

LCA To Have Policy Talk

The Levittown Civic Association will have an emergency meeting for its general membership tonight at Delhaas High School at 8 p.m.

The Association will review the events of the past week and decide upon a policy.

Final action on providing safety measures for excavations, gravel pits and other such places in the area deemed dangerous will be taken.

Plans will also be reviewed on the Levitown-A-Ree, including the annual Pet Parade, and the 1958 membership drive which starts this month.

ers in winning Lower Bucks County's first Soap Box Derby championship held in Fairless Hills two months ago, wound up finishing 11th in yesterday's All-American finals. His conquerer, Trenton's Taraschi, placed ninth to win a portable radio.

Fowler and the 15-year-old Taraschi both won two races before engaging in their two-car duel in the 80th heat of yesterday's 90-race program. Fowler took an early lead coming off the starting ramp, but midway down the course Taraschi edged in front and staved off a late rush by Jerry to win. Taraschi's time was 28:04.

Surprises Observers

The Lower Bucks County racer, which sustained a damaged axle in shipment to Akron, surprised most observers in yesterday's first heat. The combined weight of the car and Fowler was 221 pounds, 29 under the maximum permitted.

Drawing Lane no. 2 in the 50th heat, Jerry faced Robert Van Brederode of Babylon, L. I., and Randy Whitesides, Columbia, Mo., in his first test. All three cities were first-time performers in the All-American. Fowler got off to a good start and won easily in 28:39 seconds.

Jerry's second test came in the 71st heat. And again he was in aLne No. 2, pitted against Michael Bernacki, popular Philippines representative, and Frank Denton of Lubock, Texas.

Repeating his first start, Fowler took an early lead and beat out the Phillipines by several feet. Jerry's time was faster than the first heat, the clocking being 28:25.

Next came the test against Taraschi. The Trenton champion had beaten Paul Spolski of Pottsville, Pa., in his first outing in a two car race. His time was 27:96.

Nine Pennsylvania boys were eliminated in the first round races, two lost in the second, and one, Fowler, made it to the third round before he was beaten.

The second time out, Taraschi won in 27:83, beating Port Jervis, N.Y., and Janesville, Wis.

After beating Fowler, Taraschi was eliminated when he placed third in the 87th heat, trailing Townsend, the 1957 champion and James Pryor of Long Beach, Calif. Townsend won in 27:20.

Family Pleased

Although their son lost out Mr. and Mrs. John F. Fowler of Lower Makefield, were "more than pleased with Jerry's performance here yesterday. Carl Lemaster, Lower Bucks County's Soap Box Derby director, said after the race that "Lower Bucks certainly made a tremendous showing in its first All-American experience."

Fowler and the other 158 local champions climaxed a hectic four days in Akron at last night's "Banquet of Champions" staged before a sellout throng of 2,000 persons in the spacious Goodyear Gymnasium. Guests included Ohio Governor C. W. O'Neill and Akron's Mayor Leo Berg.

While missing the All-American prize list by only two places, young Fowler will return to Lower Makefield with several mementos of his thrilling experience. These include the E. N. Cole Plaque for his Lower Bucks Victory, a wrist watch, a letter from President Eisenhower, a scroll making him an honorary citizen of Akron and a complete Soap Box Derby uniform, including helmet.

benefited because today the ads are a very, very important factor in simplifying and solving the problems of every shopper.

All you are asked to do regarding the ads is to indicate each day which Large Ad, which Medium Ad and which Small Ad will, in your opinion, "do the advertisers the most good."

Easy To Help

It is very easy to be helpful. You fill out a ballot naming the best ads — without writing a letter — or you may write a letter about the "Question of the Week" —or—YOU MAY DO BOTH.

You will be helping yourself and the entire community if you will take the time to participate, because the only way to know what you readers think is for you to have your say. There will be cash awards given to those readers whose opinions are nearest to the majority each week and special awards at the end of the Survey for the "most helpful" letters, but regardless of the awards, every merchant hopes that you will do your share in this program because it is to improve shopping conditions and will help you.

If you should receive an award, that will be fine. In any case, you will certainly be "rewarded" by the fact that the merchants will be able to serve you better in the future.

Each week is a completely separate Survey with cash awards each week to those readers whose opinions are nearest to the majority of readers that week. The cash awards for the most helpful letters will be announced at the end of the Survey.

Circus Tonight For Fire Co.

Levittown Fire Co. No. 1 will sponsor the Mills Brothers Circus tonight at 8 o'clock at Penn Valley Road and Wheatsheaf Lane, off old Route 13.

Proceeds are going to the company's general fund to pay for the fire house and a new truck. Local businessmen purchased a block of tickets which were given to students of the Woods Schools and St. Francis Vocational School.

"Miss Levitteen," pert Joan Bolton of 39 Nature Lane, North Park, Levittown, will lead today's opening circus parade riding "Miss Burma," the famous elephant.

Youths Tell Of Burglary In Falls Twp.

The arrest of two hitch hikers on Route 1 Saturday night led to their confession several hours later of a Levittown house burglary.

Two 17-year-olds from Upper Darby and Cape May, N.J., were stopped on the highway by Falls Township Officers Ed Brown and Frank Gibson and brought in for "routine questioning."

Previous Records

The boy from Upper Darby previously lived in Falls Township and was convicted of several house burglaries last year and the other was recently released from probation, police said.

While the boys were being questioned Officer Elliott Bainbridge received a call of a house burglary at 243 Thornridge Drive.

Michael Wayne told police he was away with his family. When he returned he found his house had been burglarized.

Strong Box

A strong box containing papers and three bottles of beer were stolen from the home.

Lt. Julius Meszaros and Det. Rocco DiRosa questioned the juveniles and they admitted the burglary

The Upper Darby boy told police "he had heard there was $200 in the strong box when he went to the pilfer the house."

Used Window

The boys, whose names are being withheld by the Courier-Times, told police they made entrance through an open window.

A hearing is scheduled for today before Falls Township Justice of the Peace, John Melvin.

Meeting Sub - Station reported Morse was struck and thrown 40 feet by a car driven by Wilford E. Ramcke, 19, Jersey City, who is stationed at the Army Nike base in Eureka, Montgomery county

Morse, who had been heading east on the turnpike stopped his car and crossed over into the west lane in an attempt to help three Navy men from the Brooklyn Naval Base when he was struck by the car.

Three Injured

The three Navy men were injured when John R. Zayak, 22, Monaca, Pa., the driver, fell asleep and their car ran into an abutment.

Zayak, Kenneth O'Donnell, 21, Chicora, Pa., and Joseph Herz, Meta, Mo., were all taken to the Lower Bucks County Hospital by a turnpike ambulance.

O'Donnell suffered a broken arm and possible fractured leg, but his two fellow-passengers and Ramcke escaped with only minor injuries.

Both Newman and Ramcke will be charged with involuntary manslaughter.

Halperin Reports Sale Of Tract For Diner

J. Halperin & Co. of Pennsylvania, agents for Edward A. Rhine, report the settlement of a 3-acre tract at Route 1 and 413, near the Country Club Shopping Center, Levittown, for $40,000.

The Papas Brothers, purchasers, plan to build a super deluxe $100,000 diner on the tract.

Pennsbury Registration Slated For This Week

Parents of children who will attend the Pennsbury Schools for the first time this September have been urged by the office of the superintendent to register their children immediately.

A special registration for all grades from kindergarten through twelfth, will be held tomorrow from 9 a.m. to noon, and 1 to 3 p.m.

Parents unable to register their youngsters at this time may do so any weekday during the same hours.

Elementary

Parents of elementary school students should enroll their children in the schools attended by other pupils in their immediate neighborhoods.

Registrations during the above hours will be at Pennsbury High School, Makefield and Roelofs Roads, Yardley, for eleventh and twelfth grades.

Students in ninth and tenth grades who will be attending Charles H. Boehm Junior High School may register at Pennsbury High School, second floor, until next Monday. After that registrations for junior grades will be in the new building.

Seventh and eighth graders will register at William Penn Junior High School, Olds Boulevard, Fairless Hills.

School Sites

Pupils attending the elementary schools may register at any of the following schools:

Fallsington Elementary, Yardley Ave., Fallsington; Manor Elementary, Penn Valley Road, Levittown; Penn Valley Elementary, North Turn Lane, Levittown; Oxford Valley Elementary, Trenton and Fairfax Roads, Fairless Hills; Fairless View Elementary, Olds Boulevard, Fairless Hills; Makefield Elementary, Makefield Road, Yardley and Yardley Elementary on West College Ave.

More Meetings Planned On L'town Issue

right to free and peaceful assembly.

"We denounce the action of C. Leroy Murray, sheriff. We wish to announce openly to Sheriff Murray that we are calling another meeting this week.

"We want all Levittowners to join us in decrying the only real violence today: the brutal clubbing of one of the citizens of Levittown by the Pennsylvania State Police.

"Another protest meeting is planned. We want a peaceful, orderly and uninterrupted meeting. The purpose of the organization is that of restoring our entire white community."

New Group

The Citizen's Committee for Levittown, an organization opposed to violence within Levittown due to the moving in of the first Negro family, "crystallized" Saturday night at a meeting at William Penn Center, Fallsington.

The Rev. Ray L. Harwick, of the Evangelical and Reformed Church of the Reformation, Levittown, newly-appointed chairman of the group, said, "No longer is this a local situation. The eyes of the world are on us."

"I have never read the order (to disband the Levittown Betterment Committee's meetings), but feel certain that it was intended to prevent disorderly meetings which might result in physical or material damage.

"Certainly the Citizen's Committee for Levittown believes any and all groups should have the right of peaceful assembly to conduct orderly meetings on any subject of community interest.

"This is the Democratic process to which we are dedicating ourselves."

Subdue Man

Saturday night State Police used their clubs to subdue a Levittown man who they charged was disorderly. The man, Frank Mitchell, 28, of 60 Idlewild Road, Indian Creek, was fined $10 by Justice of the Peace John Melvin, Fallsington, after he was treated at Lower Bucks County Hospital for head wounds.

In the same melee a State Trooper struck Courier-Times Photographer Thomas Keane with his club. Keane and another photographer had rushed up to get a picture of police beating Mitchell. One of the policemen swung his club. The blow glanced off Keane's camera and struck him in the nose.

The incident occurred about 8:30 p.m. an hour and a half after police had broken up a protest meeting of 600 people.

Churches Speak Out

Pastors of churches in the Levittown area decried acts of violence from the pulpit yesterday. Some preached entire sermons on the subject such as Rev. Walter A. Maier, Jr., of the Hope Lutheran Church.

He said, in part:

"I regret exceedingly that a group of Levittown citizens have used violeenc in an attempt to settle the dispute over the William Myers family's residence in Levittown.

"Such activity, and the insubordination to establish governmental authority which it involves, constitutes a violation of God's will and cannot call forth his blessing upon our community.

"The Apostle Paul, the Lord's spokesman, declares that a moral citizenry ought keep "in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work, to speak evil of no man, to be no brawler.' (Titus III:1)"

Message Read

In the 1st Presbyterian Church of Levittown, the Rev. Robert L Barbor, the associate minister, read a message from the pastor, Rev. Robert J. Thomson who is on vacation, in which the pastor expressed "my disappointment and concern over the reported disorder in the vicinity of the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Myers in Dogwood Hollow."

Rev. Barbor, in his prayer and sermon expressed the hope that "our citizens would be guided by sane counsel and christian charity."

Members of the Plymouth Congregational Church on Appletree Drive and Autumn Lane were told by the Rev. Fred R. Manthey, Jr., their pastor: to "become a center of calmness and peace in your own neighborhoods . . .and indicate by your words and actions, at any mention of violence to property or person, that this is not the way."

Roman Catholics

Roman Catholics of the parish of the Immaculate Conception Church, where, as in other Roman Catholic churches, the scriptural reading was on "pride and prejudice," were told by Father Gillespie: "Acts of violence such as throwing rocks show an unchristian attitude on the part of people who call themselves Christians . . .We, as Catholics, cannot involve ourselves in activities such as this."

Group Can't Meet

At the meeting called by the Levittown Betterment Committee, James Newell, chairman, told the crowd that he had been informed by State Police that the group could not meet legally any more.

Saturday's meeting was held behind the home at 276 Dogwood Drive, where a similar meeting was held Friday night. About $245 was raised, bringing the total funds collected to about $450.

Sheriff C. Leroy Murray also told the gathering that their meeting constituted an illegal assembly. He was booed when he tried to speak but spoke over the jeering. Though many persons were bitter about Myers' moving into the community the crowd was relatively quiet and peaceful.

Told Not To Sell

A plea was made again as in days before, for Levittowners to refrain from moving or selling their homes because of the situation.

Incorporation also came up. Several times a yell went up for incorporation, after Newell said progress was impossible with Levittown broken up into four governmental units.

"We have no voice in this, because we are not able to have a voice in the government," he said.

Though Newell asked members of the Committee to stay away from the Myers house, just a short block away, after the meeting, a crowd gathered there.

The meeting ended at 6:50 o'clock, and many went directly to the Myers house at 43 Deepgreen Lane. None was allowed to stay near the house. Residents of Dogwood Hollow walked past lines of police.

The remainder had to stay across the street and behind homes there.

A crowd of about 200 was on hand again last night.

Delay Is Crucial For Opening Day And Class Session

Bristol Township school officials will meet with representatives of the Philadelphia Building Trades Council at 4 p.m. today to determine the cause of the picketing holding up work on the James Buchanan School, Haines Road, Levittown.

Members of the building council have been picketing the school since Thursday. Plumbing and heating work has been halted as union workers refused to cross the picket lines.

Delhaas High

Benjamin F. Stockett, president of the school board, said the meeting will be in the office of Dr. Guy F. Eberhart, regional superintendent, in Delhaas High School.

"It is vital we settle this issue amicably and not delay the opening of the school next month," Stockett said.

"If it isn't settled, the result will be double sessions or an extension of the school term," he said.

Construction of the 28-room school has reached the crucial stage, Dr. Eberhart said. Any delay, he said, in construction will be reflected in the opening date.

Car Smashes Embankment

A 17-year-old Trenton driver, blinded by the bright lights of a car behind him, crashed into an embankment on Route 13, completely destroying his car but escaping uninjured.

A 15-year-old companion suffered a slight laceration.

Officers Frank Gibson and Ed Brown, Falls Township police, said Barton Carl Weinberg, Trenton, N.J. was going south on Route 13 Saturday night when the accident occured.

He told police he saw the lights from behind and attempted to signal the driver to dim them.

The other car didn't dim the lights but instead tried to pass the young Trenton driver. He pulled to the right and crashed his car into the embankment near the Levittown 1 Fire Company.

Peter Fakey, a passenger was taken to the Mercer Hospital, Trenton by Levittown Emergency Squad. He was released after treatment.

No violations were charged, police said.

stops in the governor's agenda.

The governor's tour will include Montgomery, Berks and Chester counties, the areas which, with Bucks County, have been hit hard by the drought.

$5 Million Damage

Last week, a report by the Drought Disaster Committee estimated the damage to Bucks County farms at $5,000,000 and called that figure conservative.

The four-county area has been deprived of any adequate rainfall since April.

Motel Offers Area Service

The mid-August opening of the new 85-room, $750,000 Bristol Motel, at Route 13 and Green Lane in Bristol Township, its owners say, will be a boon to local manufacturing and industrial plants as well as civic and social organizations seeking conference and meeting accommodations. Allen Hulsch, who is supervising staffing and equipping the motel, said today that during a survey made prior to locating the motel in Lower Bucks County, the need for convenient accommodations for industrial and civic meetings was pointed out by many sources.

"As a result," he said, "the Bristol Motel was planned specifically to meet these community needs in addition to offering the usual guest services for travelers or visitors to the area. Designed by Edward Evans of Bedford Village to serve this dual purpose, the air - conditioned Buckingham Room, with its adjoining kitchen, will be made available, at a nominal fee, to industry and organizations for conference and meeting purposes."

The Buckingham Room is named as tribute to the tradition of Bristol, which was originally known as Buckingham when it was founded in 1697. A Pennsylvania Dutch motif is used. Turquoise walls and wall-to-wall carpeting compliment cherry paneling and accent the bold colors of the Pennsylvania Dutch art.

The Buckingham Room will accomodate from 30 to 80 persons and is particularly suited to handle sales or management conferences and civic meetings. Facilities are also available for catering to small parties.

Michael Mourdant-Smith, Confidential's chief European correspondent, was to wind up his testimony for the defense today, followed by a "mystery man" whom Crowley indicated might be the man Crowley claims was with Miss O'Hara in the ornate Hollywood theater.

Crowley scoffed at Miss O'Hara's claim that she was in Europe at the time. He said James Craig, former assistant manager of the theater who testified Friday he saw Miss O'Hara at Grauman's, said the incident took place in November of 1953. "Therefore there could be a month or two in either direction," Crowley said.

Leader Embarks On Check Today Of Drought Area

Gov. George M. Leader embarked today on a personal inspection tour of drought damage on southeastern Pennsylvania farms.

The governor began his tour this morning and will visit farms in Bucks, Chester, Montgomery and Berks counties. He will be accompanied by state Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning and was expected to confer with local county agents on the extent of damage during the long drought.

Leader said the tour will be a preliminary to requesting federal aid for farmers. The visit comes just a week after New Jersey Governor Robert L Meyner's request for aid was turned down by President Eisenhower.

Conservation

District directors of soil conservation from 12 northeastern states are scheduled to hear a talk by U. S Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Ervin L. Peterson in Wilmington, Del. today. Peterson will talk on closer ties between soil conservation and the new farm program.

State Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning was expected to attend the Wilmington discussion and to head the Pennsylvania delegation from the Commonwealth's 48 conservation districts.

The talks, expected to last two days, will include discussion of upstream flood prevention programs and the role of self-governing districts in soil conservation work. The meeting comes on the second anniversary of Hurricane Diane, which in August, 1955, tore a disastrous path through southeastern Pennsylvania and other seaboard states.

Fifty-five Pennsylvania counties have been certified as free of brucellossis, Doctor Howard A. Milo, director of the Bureau of Animal Industry said today.

Milo said that only two counties, Lebanon and Bradford, have not yet completed testing for the contagious livestock disease. To bee certified the infection cannot exceed one per cent in the county cattle population and five per cent of the county's herd

Doctor Milo said that only three Bradford County townships still remain outside the current testing program and tat nine Lebanon townships have yet to apply. He estimated that the entire state would be tested prior to his original target date of Jan. 1, 1958.

Union Fire Company Plans Picnic Sept. 1

Morrisville's Union Fire Company will park the hoses and the fire trucks for a day and picnic Sept. 1.

The Sunday affair is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars picnic grove at 101 Hillcrest Ave., Morrisville.

All members are urged to pack a lunch, bring the family and come early to the outing which begins at 10 a.m.

Members may contact Harold Hall, outing chairman, at CY 5-3321 for further information on the affair.

Apartments Talk Slated

The public gets the floor on the proposed apartment house project in Morrisville at public hearing next week.

Borough council has set the session for the Borough Hall at 8 p.m. next Tuesday, Aug. 27.

Council last week approved the ordinance allowing for the construction of the $2,000,000 building.

Before the action can become final, the public hearing, and two more separate readings and approvals by council are necessary.

Louis Cahan, Trenton builder, has expressed a desire to start work on the modern structure sometime this fall. The building will probably take about a year to complete.

The new building, to be located on Crown St. and East Trenton Ave. will overlook Trenton and cater to a "professional type family."

The building will include air conditioning, off street parking and all of the latest modern facilities.

Plans call for a 700 room building with 168 separate apartments. Rental has been estimated at $50 a room per month.

France Checks On Franc Devaluation

PARIS (UP)—French Finance Minister Felix Gaillard set the wheels in motion by unofficially devaluing the franc. Now he is waiting to see which way they will turn.

The young financial wizard hopes this devauluation and a new "austerity" program will return the nation from the brink of bankruptcy.

But most experts—and many Frenchmen — believe the 37-year-old Gaillard's devaluation was just a starter, a prelude to a new wage and price spiral this fall and a general devaluation of the French currency at home and abroad.

France's economic problems come in the midst of its most prosperous postwar period. Industrial production has increased 47 per cent during the past four years. Steel production is up 62 per cent over 1950. The nation is producing 58 per cent more iron ore each year. It has 75 per cent more electric power and produces 27 per cent more food and farm products each year.

And France is buying more, too.

With full employment—only 75,000 persons applied for jobs in May out of a population of 43 million—Frenchmen just wait six months to two years for new cars. They are buying television sets as fast as they come off the production lines.

It is this very boom at home which is causing France's economic problems. It is the simple fact that France is importing more than it is exporting. Its currency reserves are all buy exhausted and its credit is gone.

At present all that stands between France and bankruptcy is 200 billion francs (420 million dollars) in bank of France gold. This is melting away at the rate of 50 billion francs (120 million dollars) a month.

One trouble is the Algerian war, now costing about one billion francs (2.8 million dollars) a day.

Another reason France no longer can keep up with its international trade deficit is the gradual cutting off of American foreign aid funds.

U. S. aid, which ran at about 700 million dollars a year during the Indo-China war dropped off to about 125 million dollars this year.

Thus Finace Minister Gaillard faced an almost impossible situation when he began his program of "austerity."

He had to bring France's trade balance into line and he had to do it without cutting imports.

Gaillard's first move was to cut the 1957 budget. It has a projected deficit of four billion dollars. By threatening to quit, Gaillard obtained a $1,700,000,000 dollar reduction in the budget, meaning less money for Frenchmen to spend at home.

Then he went after the problem of increasing exports. To do that he had to "unofficially" devalue the franc, from 350 to the dollar to 420 to the dollar.

His devaluation was unofficial in that France still pretends the franc is 350 to the dollar. Technically all he did was slap a 20 per cent tax on imports (except raw materials) and grant a 20 per cent subsidy to imports (including tourist dollars).

Magee Calls Meeting To Study 'Paper Street'

James Magee, chairman of Morrisville's street committee, has called a meeting of all residents along Glenside Ave. to discuss the "paper street" situation.

If residents sign a release the "paper street" which is only carried on the borough records as a street, but has never been opened, will be discarded.

Sewer assessments will be lowered if the street plan is approved by all of the residents.

Nation's Top Teenage Driver Deplores Women Behind Wheel

NEW YORK (UP)—Men have been complaining about us women as drivers ever since we've had cars. Now, another male adds his voice to the protesting chorus.

This time, it is the nation's top teen-age driver, who says most women are second-rate motorists . . .some of them just plain menaces.

"I won't ride with my own mother," said Charles Earl Hopkins, 19, of Atlanta. "Men make better drivers bcause they have more of a mechanical knack. . . better coordination than women."

Hopkins, who graduated from high school last spring, came to Manhattan for a brief visit after winning the annual teen-age Road-E-O in Washington. He will use his $2,000 winnings to study physical education at Wofford College, Spartanburg, S.C. After college, he plans to coach

Makes One Exception

Hopkins makes one exception in his criticism of femine drivers—his "steady" for a year, Betty Evans, a high school senior "She's a pretty good driver. But when we're out, I take the wheel,' he said.

Hopkins believes the number one cause of highway accidents, no matter what the age group, is lack of courtesy on the road.

Other young drivers, all of who at one time have entered the Road-E-O, disagree. They blame high speeds, violation of traffic laws and inattention of drivers.

This showed in a study made by the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, two of the sponsors of the annual contest. They polled 1,500 drivers, all of whom have been state finalists.

Other major hazards, listed in order of importance, were improperly trained drivers, emotionally immature drivers, mechanical defects, too much speed and horsepower, and poor driving conditions.

Women's Club Plans Show

The Morrisville Woman's Club will sponsor a fashion show for the benefit of the Morrisville Free Library, replacing the fund raising door to door canvass.

The show will be played at the Trenton Country Club, Oct. 15. Mrs. Paul Taylor, president of the woman's club, announced.

This may be the last year the Woman's Club will raise funds for the library since the group is attempting to get borough council to finance the library from now on.

The Morrisville Woman's Club has sponsored the library with fund raising since 1948.

General chairman of the affair is Martin Rohn. Mrs. Joseph Clark is in charge of tickets; Mrs. F. J. Purcell is in charge of tickets; Mrs. J. Bartley Cook, decorations and Mrs. Raymond Eggert, refreshments.

Tickets for the show can be obtained from all members of the club.

Water Suppy Is Still Nip And Tuck In Southampton

The water supply situation in Southampton is still "strictly a nip and tuck affair" according to Harry Harding, secretary-treasurer of the Southampton Water Authority.

"It may not be as serious as it was last month when the municipality ran out of water," reports Harding, "but it soon would be if consumers stop conserving water."

Despite the cooperation of most residents in conserving water, the supply drops as much as one-third each day, Harding reports.

During the night, the tanks are refilled.

Plans for a fourth well are being completed by the township engineer but this, if approved, will not be ready until fall.

"What it means," says Harding," is that Southampton residents must maintain their vigilance in conserving water."

Washing cars and watering lawns is still strictly prohibited until the township receives a sufficient rainfall, Harding said.

PO Urges Makefield To Display Addresses

Residents in Lower Makefield have been urged by the Yardley Post Office, in charge of their mail, to display "name and house number."

Mrs. B. McKenna, postmistress, said display of the name and house number will facilitate prompt and proper delivery of mail in the township.

"If there is any doubt as to the correct number of your home," Mrs. McKenna said, "refer to your moving and occupancy permit."

Tax notices also show the correct house number, Mrs. McKenna said.

Further information may be received by calling the Yardley Post Office.

Council Sets Meeting Night

Morrisville Borough Council will resume last week's recessed council session tomorrow night at 8 p.m. at the borough hall.

Police, public property, finance, sanitation, and fire committees will report at this session.

Borough secretary Bob Steward said the meeting will deal with routine matters.
